The Faculty of Natural Sciences at the University of Hohenheim is offering one scholarship to participants in the "Biodiversity throughout times" graduate school who are at the beginning of their postgraduate studies. The scholarship will be awarded for two years from July 2024. An extension of a maximum of 12 months can only be granted in exceptional and well-founded cases. The formal requirements for admission as a doctoral student at the Faculty of Natural Sciences at the University of Hohenheim have to be fulfilled by the applicant. Please note that scholarship holders must apply for and participate in the faculty's doctoral program "Biodiversity through Times". The Faculty of Natural Sciences at the University of Hohenheim wishes to attract outstanding doctoral candidates. For non-subject-specific information about the application as a doctoral candidate please refer to the Graduate Academy of Hohenheim (<https://www.uni-hohenheim.de/en/state-graduate-support>).

Applications as one pdf file including all documents and detailed information should be sent via email to the chair of the doctoral committee of Natural Sciences (100), Prof. Dr. Reinhard Kohlus, email: promotionnatur@uni-hohenheim.de. The deadline for this application is 30.04.2024. Please note that only complete applications will be considered. The application form will be provided by the Graduate Academy.
